DES ARC, Ark. (AP) — The Screenon Gunter election contest, still stood in recess today, with J. T. Gunter apparently ahead of state Sen. Jerry J. Screenon.

According to a recount Tuesday of Prairie County ballots, which are still in custody, Gunter of the Gunter family was ahead by 229 votes—6,087 to 5,858.

The totals of certified returns from the district's four counties gave Screenon of Hazen, 8,165 to 7,939 for Gunter.

When the hearing before Circuit Judge W. J. Waggoner resumed Thursday in Lonoke, Screenon's attorneys will begin attacking the validity of Lonoke County ballots, as Gunter's lawyers, for two days, have challenged ballots from Prairie County.

Certified returns from Prairie County, Screenon's home county, made him the apparent victor in the Aug. 9 Democratic primary. Gunter filed suit, seeking to throw out the Prairie County ballots. Screenon, in reply, challenged votes in Lonoke County, Gunter's home.

On Tuesday's recount, Waggoner found only 132 ballots in the Hazen box—125 for Screenon and 7 for Gunter—compared with the 795 ballots County Clerk Albert Ewing Jr. testified Monday poll workers had said were cast—705 for Screenon and 30 for Gunter. That was the major discrepancy found in Waggoner's recount.

The suit also claims that the 2,051 votes certified for Screenon are 729 more than reported by poll workers to the county clerk. A factor in the hearing is a break in the county clerk's office the night of Aug. 11 when some ballot boxes allegedly were tampered with. Ewing testified that the next morning he found Hazen ballots out of the Hazen box.

Official of SWC Addresses Lions

Jack Freeman, Southwest Conference Football Official from Texarkana, was guest speaker at the Lions Club Monday, bringing one of the best programs of the year.

Mr. Freeman, who worked the Arkansas-TCU game Saturday night as head line man, explained the set up of the Southwestern Football Officials Association from which the Southwest Conference Officials are selected. He pointed out that to be a qualified official, one must have a thorough working knowledge of the rules of the game. A rules examination is given each year and each official must maintain certain standards set up by SFOA. An official must be physically fit and must pass a thorough physical examination annually.

Mr. Freeman indicated that enforcement of the rules and judgment are the basic ingredients of football officiating. He said that occasionally there will be a judgment error but very seldom a rules error.

Nixon Pushes Vote Drive in New York

By JACK BELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon stormed into the heart of vote-powerful New York City today. He called for new tax policies that would encourage industry and increase jobs.

The Republican presidential nominee spoke to a crowd of police estimated at 23,000 massed in Rockefeller Plaza.

Nixon's reception in midtown New York was somewhat less than enthusiastic as he discussed a wide range of issues from national defense to civil rights.

Nixon said the United States must increase its lead over the Soviet Union, not only in military strength but in economic protective power.

To do that, he said, there is need for policies of taxation that may not be popular politically but are needed to boost the level of jobs as well as increase production.

As the Nixon motorcade rolled down Seventh Avenue to 38th Street in the garment district, crowds lined the sidewalks and spilled over into the street. Thousands of spectators stood behind barricades. Many carried homemade signs and floated balloons overhead.

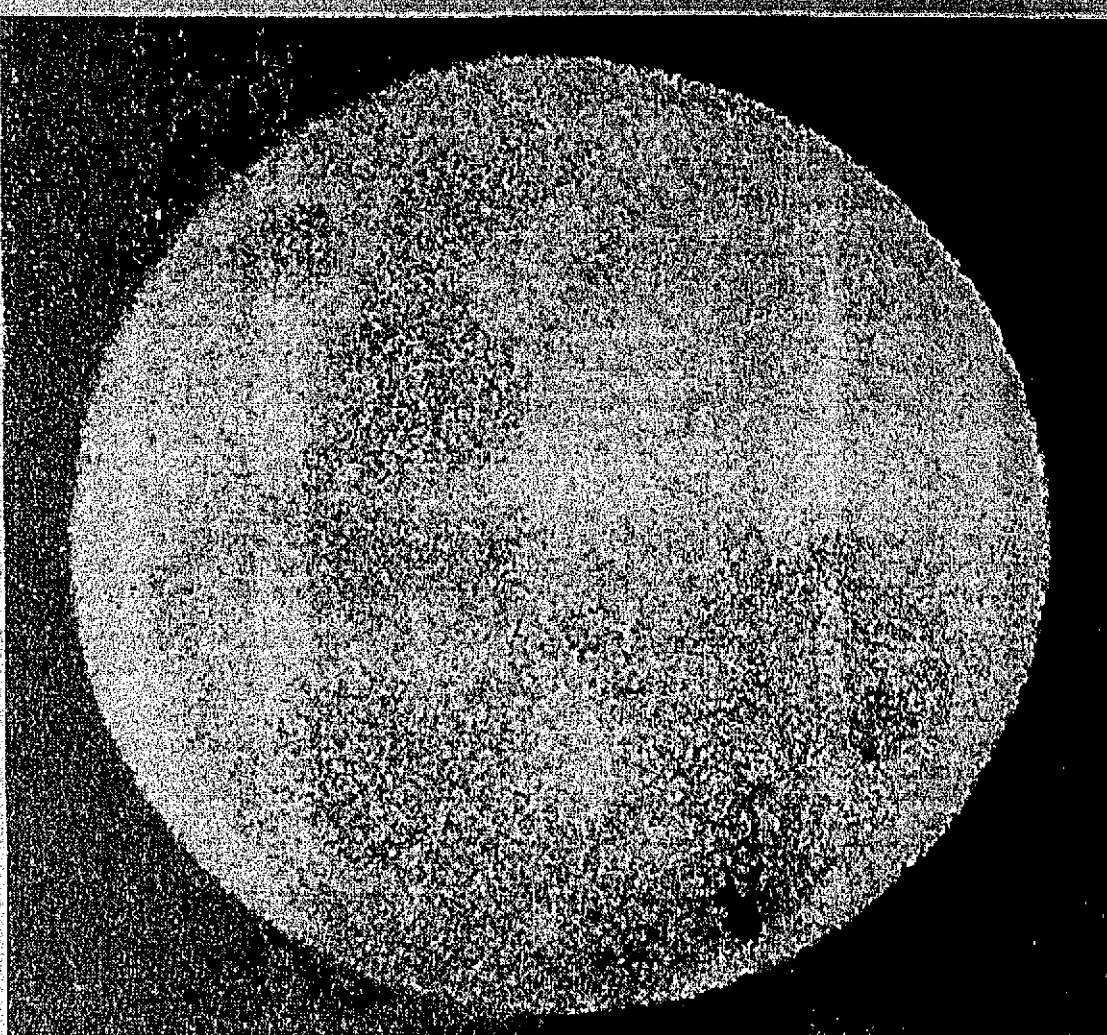

Earlier, Nixon had kicked off a day of New York City campaigning by telling GOP partisans at a breakfast that he and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge can win the election if they get the support of most of the Republicans, more than half of the independents and 20 per cent of the Democrats.

The Republican presidential nominee, buoyed by what he described as "a tremendous" reception in doubtful New Jersey Tuesday, had a nonpartisan note in speaking at a breakfast meeting of party workers.

Enthusiastic Republicans overflowed a 2,000 seat ballroom to cheer Nixon and Mrs. Nixon last night.

The vice president was introduced by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, once his opponent for the Republican nomination.

Moonshot—Full Moon on Oct. 4

THE EDITOR MADE THIS PHOTO OF THE FULL moon at 8:45 Tuesday night in his back yard. The lens was the Schneider 360mm. telephoto, used in football, with a 4x5 Speed Graphic camera mounted on a tripod. Pilot prints were made on 4x5 Polaroid Type 52, the exact exposure was then obtained — and the actual photo shot on Polaroid Type 53, which has a negative as well as a print.

INCREDIBLE AS IT MAY SEEM, THE LIGHT OF THE full moon is, for the moon subject alone, equal to bright sunlight. This picture was made on a film valued at ASA 200 shot at 1/100th second at F 16. The same film used in daylight would be shot anywhere from F16 to F32, at 1/100th.

South Africa Voting on Republic

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Long lines of South Africans voted today on the nationalist government's plan to make this member of the British Commonwealth a republic.

The plan—opposed by British-descended whites—could result in South Africa's being turned out of Britain's multiracial family of nations.

The radio of the white-supremacist government proclaimed: "This is the most crucial vote in the history of our country."

Both sides agreed it probably would be a record poll of 90 per cent of the eligible voters.

The opposition worked hard to get out a big vote. Prime Minister Hendrik P. Verwoerd's Dutch-descended nationalists acknowledged a massive vote might go against a republic, but they were favored to win. Africaners outnumbered voters of British descent by a ratio of 55 to 45.

More than 1,000,000 whites in South Africa and the neighboring mandate of Southwest Africa were eligible to vote. The nearly 12 million non-whites had no vote.

First results were expected to be known by tonight.

Verwoerd has said that if there is a majority of as much as one vote for the plan, he will consider it a mandate to submit to Parliament a measure declaring the country a republic. His party's majority in Parliament would assure approval.

Couple Weds in Pulaski County Jail

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clyde L. Long and Nancy L. Arendt were married Tuesday. But their "honeymoon" consisted of a walk back to their Pulaski County Jail cells.

Justice of the Peace Sam Miller performed the ceremony in his office near the jail. The couple kissed for the first time before a score of witnesses, mostly reporters and photographers. Then they were returned to their separate cells.

Long, 30, wore a suit. Miss Arendt, who is six months pregnant, was dressed in a blue maternity outfit.

"We courted through a small hole in the wall between the men's and women's quarters," explained Long, who recently was sentenced to one year for grand larceny and also is held for parole violation from a previous forgery charge.

Miss Arendt is serving 30 days on a misdemeanor bad check charge.

Head Jailer Joe Burgholli and other county officials cooperated in arranging the wedding.

But for Miss Arendt the publicity given her jail romance had a more immediate benefit. She got a letter from her mother, the first word she has had in 12 years.

Boy Crushed to Death by Truck

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A nine-year-old boy was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a school bus Tuesday while his father watched from across the road.

The boy, Leodis Mathew Macon Jr., had just alighted from the bus at his home. The bus driver, Donald Rogers, 19, of Sweet Home, told State Police he did not see the boy in front of the bus, but thought he had crossed the highway behind it as had other children let off there.

Crash Kills 61 of 72; Secret Papers Missing

BOSTON (AP)—An Eastern Airlines four-engine Electra transport plunged into Boston harbor on Tuesday, killing 61 of the 72 aboard. All of the 11 known survivors were injured seriously.

A mysterious "secret document" figured in the crash. State Police Capt. Carl Larsen, in charge of rescue operations, said a member of the Air Force Office of Special Investigation told him it was aboard at takeoff but later missing. Larsen said the FBI started a search.

The crash, one of a series of mishaps involving the turboprop Electra and the second in less than three weeks, brought urgent demands for investigation.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board ordered seven investigators to the scene, Rep. Steven B. Doremus, R-N.Y., called for a congressional inquiry. Rep. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., calling for corrective action by the Federal Aviation Agency, said "structural deficiencies found in this airplane have not been corrected."

But Gen. E. H. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said sketchy information available did not seem to show any relation between Tuesday's crash and previous accidents involving Electras.

The plane took off from Logan International Airport at 5:45 p.m. bound for Philadelphia, Charlotte, N.C., Greenville, S.C., and Atlanta. It came down about 200 yards offshore.

Among the 67 passengers were 15 Marine Corps recruits en route to Parris Island, S.C. Ten of them were among the known dead. At least three others were injured.

"The thing was split wide open," said Lt. Cmdr. Everett Cook, USNR, who saw the plane after it nosed into the water off the Whitthrop Yacht Club.

"When I got there, part of the plane was still afloat," said Cmdr. Donald Regan, USNR, one of the first to reach the scene. "A good many of the passengers were strapped to their seats and could not get out. The seats were floating. I noticed that their weight was pulling them over so that their heads were in the water."

"They were all a mess — blood, broken bones, split skulls and everything else."

Eastern Airlines at Miami at first said the pilot, Capt. C.W. Fells, and copilot M.J. Calloway, survived. But later the airline could not confirm this and they could not be located in any hospital.

The body of Flight Engineer Malcolm M. Hall of Memphis, Tenn., was recovered.

Two stewardesses survived, identified by the airline as Joan Berry, 22, of Prentice, Miss., and Patricia Davies of Jacksonville, Fla.

"It happened so fast there was no time to think. We were up in the air — then suddenly we hit the water. I remember calling for the pilot and copilot. There was no answer," Miss Berry said.

11 Persons Die in Tennessee Blast, 60 Hurt

By ED MILLER

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — A savage blast which claimed 11 lives and left at least 60 others injured ripped through a sprawling chemical plant here Tuesday and rocked this upper East Tennessee city of 26,000 people.

Today officials of the Tennessee Eastman Corp. began probing smoldering rubble of the smashed section of the 400-acre plant in an effort to determine the cause.

The explosion occurred in the acid division of the amine processing section where dyes are made. Officials said the building is operated by remote control and normally no workmen are inside.

Downtown Kingsport, a mile and a half from the plant, was shaken and shattered glass from store windows littered the streets. The blast was heard 20 miles away in Johnson City.

"It happened just like that, no warning, didn't know what was happening," said Earl Wiesler, an Eastman pipefitter. "The blast, then, glass and stuff flying around."

Fire touched off by the explosion raged for about three hours before it was brought under control.

An unidentified guard at a nearby ordnance plant said he was driving along in his truck when the blast occurred. "It sent my truck through the air for about 100 yards," he said, "but I landed right side up. I didn't know what had happened."

The plant, a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak Corp., produces plastic cellulose fibers, polyethylene and other chemicals.

About 8,500 persons are employed in the Eastman operation here.

Khrushchev Is Hypocrite, Says Australian

By BELMAN MORIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Australia kicked off a blistering counterattack today against Premier Khrushchev, denouncing him as a hypocrite and appealing to his conscience to end the war of becoming pawns in an international game.

"The counterattack came in a speech prepared for the U. N. General Assembly's policy debate by Australian Prime Minister Gordon Menzies, as the Assembly pondered a nationalist drive pressing President Eisenhower and the Soviet leader to meet again face-to-face."

Prime Minister Nehru of India is attempting to apply all the persuasion of his powerful voice to rally Asian, African and other support behind the two-man summit proposal, despite the dislike for the idea expressed by both the U. S. President and the Soviet premier.

Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan, who had a 90-minute talk with Khrushchev Tuesday, is pictured as trying to prepare the way for a Big Four meeting in the spring, possibly in Geneva.

Khrushchev is said to want one in January or February, after Eisenhower is out of office.

Menzies accused Khrushchev of attempting to inflame leaders of emerging independent African nations with worn-out slogans about imperialism and colonialism.

Menzies, who saw President Eisenhower over the weekend, pictured the President as intent upon balking any Communist attempt to envelop the new African states in their own sphere of influence.

"He (the President) said in effect, and I must respectfully agree," said Menzies, "that we are not to look at our new colonies as if they were voters to be collected or as pawns in a vast international game, but as independent, equal and free."

The Soviet Union thus appeared to former colonial areas with a proposal that the United Nations recommend immediate freedom to all dependent areas at once. Menzies commented tartly:

"I venture to say it is an act of complete hypocrisy for a Communist leader to denounce colonialism as evil, while at the same time the Western powers, when the facts are that the great colonial power now existing is the Soviet Union itself."

Menzies said he was shocked at evidence that there were those at the United Nations who appear to believe that by threats of aggression, by violent propaganda, by actual conquest, if necessary, they will extend the substance of their material wealth and the boundaries of their economic influence.

"The Menzies attack was the strongest yet mounted against the Communists by any representative of the non-Communist world. It came in the midst of talk about new East-West approaches toward a climate for negotiation."

Debate on the neutralist resolution coincided with increasing discussion of ideas about an other summit conference, possibly next spring. An Australian amendment urging a Big Four meeting—but without specifying the time—also is on the docket for the General Assembly today.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan discussed it with Khrushchev Tuesday in a private conference lasting 75 minutes.

Comet Offers a Choice of Engines

The Comet will retain its basic styling for 1961 and will offer a higher performance optional engine, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, announced today.

"The Comet's styling, economy, quality and riding features have been firmly established with the public," Mr. Mills said. "To meet the demand, we are planning to produce more Comets for 1961 and will assemble the new models at plants in San Jose, California; Kansas City, Missouri; and Lorain, Ohio. The Comet was assembled only at the Lorain plant when it was introduced six months ago."

Mr. Mills also pointed out that Comet prices will remain competitive with the lower-priced compacts.

Assembly now—a dark feeling of rising danger and no outlook otherwise for heading it off.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Australian Prime Minister Robert D. Menzies today denounced Soviet Premier Khrushchev as a hypocrite and appealed to the newly admitted nations of Africa not to heed his voice.

In a speech to the U. N. General Assembly, the Australian leader accused Khrushchev of trying to inflame the minds of the new leaders of Africa with shopworn slogans of imperialism and colonialism.

"I venture to say it is an act of complete hypocrisy for a Communist leader to denounce colonialism as if it were an evil characteristic of the Western powers, when the facts are that the greatest colonial power now existing is the Soviet Union itself."

He said President Eisenhower had taken a "high line" in opposing efforts of the Communist world to put the African states in their own sphere of influence.

Orval Faubus says a preliminary report from a poll indicates that Democrats on the state level are doing all right, but that the race is closer for president.

Faubus revealed Tuesday that a poll is being made to determine the chances of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee in Arkansas. He said it also would indicate the strength of other groups expected to receive votes in November.

The ballot will list the Democratic, Republican and National States Rights parties.

Faubus said the preliminary report indicated he was in good shape in his race against Republican Henry M. Brill of Hot Springs.

He did not say who was making the poll.

Menzies declared.

Look Out, Boys! Girls Are Coming

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I've read your columns about girls whose steadies drop them. You usually say something like, "When teen-age romances are over, they are really over. Forget him, date other boys, enjoy yourself; don't sit around home and mope."

If I had followed that advice, I would have got nowhere! Last October I was going steady. He broke with me, using the excuse that his Dad didn't like the idea of going steady. I kept "accidentally" on purpose meeting him places. I'd say "Hi!" to him every morning before classes. I was a real pest. We rode the same bus home so he couldn't very well avoid me. He went steady with about 10 different girls but I kept on saying "Hi!" even if when I looked at him I'd almost cry.

At commencement, I saw him standing across the lawn. Just so I could see him up close in his cap and gown, I approached him. To my surprise, he gave me the biggest kiss I ever hope to get from him. According to his two sisters, I was the only girl, besides his grandmother, mother and themselves, that he kissed. After graduation he would call me on the phone and we would talk about 45 minutes every night. We dated three or four times a week. Now I am happy to announce my engagement to him. So you girls who think your life has ended because your steady broke with you, "don't give up the ship!" —A Wife-to-Be.

Dear Wife-to-Be: Your experience to the contrary, I still maintain that the surest way to get your man is to be the pursued, not the pursuer.

Dear Helen: I am 15 and a sophomore in high school but my parents treat me as if I were in grade school. Last week I was invited to two slumber parties. Mother wouldn't let me go. She didn't know the girls that invited me. Last summer my best friend invited me to one and Mother said no. Slumber parties are just a bunch of girls who get together, make pizza, listen to records and go to sleep. My parents think going out once a week is enough. All I ask is to let me go Friday and Saturday nights to a dance or a basketball game. After the dances which are over at 11, my father comes after me. What am I supposed to do if a boy I like offers me a ride home? He's the type that would take me right home. Do you see any harm in me going to dances at other towns? My friends go. —N. E.

Dear N. E.: I sympathize but at 15, you are still too young to go partying—even to slumber parties. Be thankful your father is concerned enough to call for you at school dances. The better you are guarded, the more the boys will value your company.

No matter how innocuous the out-of-town dance, it would be the height of bad taste for a 15-year-old girl to attend unless accompanied by a member of her family.

Cheer up! In three short years you'll be 18 and from then on responsible only to yourself.

Dear Helen: My girl friend and I are giving a combination hayride and Italian party. The last time my girl friend paid for it. But now we cannot afford it. Could you tell me how to tell the guests they have to pay for it? —ONE-Who-Would-Like-to-Know-the-Right-Way.

Dear One Who Would Like to Know the Right Way: If you can't afford to pay for a party, don't give it.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "On Being Popular."

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holt celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home in the Bligen Community on Sunday, October 2. The four children, Oscar Holt of Memphis, Tenn.; Dr. Forney Holt of Hope; Edwin Holt of Harrison and Mrs. Mary Gilbert of Nashville, were present for the occasion. Over two hundred relatives and friends called at the home between the hours of 2 till 5 p. m.

Mercury Is Still in Low Price Field

Mercury for 1961 substantially increases its coverage of the low-price field by introducing two all new lines — the Meteor 600 and the Meteor 800.

"The dramatically lower price of the new Mercury Meteor places it squarely into competition in the low-price field," it was announced by Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

"We have completely re-styled and engineered our products to compete in the low-price volume market," Mr. Mills said. "We have shortened our cars by 4-1/2 inches and made them 1-1/2 inches narrower, yet we have retained Mercury's interior comfort, riding qualities and luxury styling."

The move down into the low-price field marks a wide departure from Mercury's traditional competition in the medium-price market. The Mercury line for 1961, which consists of 14 models, is identified as the Meteor 600 series, which is priced with the middle series in the low-price field; the Meteor 800 series, priced with the top series of the low-price field; and the Monterey series, at the top of the line. In addition, there are four Com-

No Signup in Soil Bank This Fall

There will be no signup this fall of additional land or contracts under the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve, H. B. Gilbert, Chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today in response to inquiries from farmers regarding the status of the program. "Mr. Gilbert also said that program contracts which expire in 1960 or later are no longer eligible to be extended for an additional period of years. "Under the Soil Bank Act enacted in May of 1956, Mr. Gilbert explained, the Secretary of Agriculture was authorized to enter into Conservation Reserve contracts with producers during the five-year period 1956-1960.

"The signup under the 1960 program was held last fall, so that farmers would know in advance of the cropping season whether their land would be accepted into the Conservation Reserve. Since the authorization to enter into new contracts has not been extended beyond 1960, there will be no signup period this fall.

"Farmers should understand, however, that the existing contracts for 1960 and previous years will remain in effect.

Fire Hoses Used on Jeering Pickets

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse deputies used fire hoses today to clear a path through massed, jeering pickets so that workers could enter the struck General Electric Company's big Electronics Park plant.

Five persons were arrested, including Loren Vinn, 35, president of Syracuse Local 320 of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Approximately 450 pickets massed in front of the main gate at Electronics Park. One picket, John Prosser, 30, of Syracuse, was charged with assault and battery on a police officer. A deputy said Prosser struck him in the stomach. The others were charged with disorderly conduct.

HERE IS A NEW AND BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR —WITH A 12-MONTH OR 12,000-MILE WARRANTY

You're looking at the newest car in the low-price field—the Mercury Meteor. But the resemblance to other low-price cars ends with the price.

COSTS LESS TO DRIVE! You save on upkeep. Your Mercury dealer is extending his warranty on all 1961 Mercurys to one full year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. See him for full information. He will be glad to show you a copy of his new warranty. * * *

You save on gas. Mercury's new, wider choice of engines and transmissions lets you tailor your new Meteor to your kind of driving. Choose super economy, super power, or any combination in between. And just think of these 7 other savings: A new pre-lubricated chassis lets you drive 30,000 miles before it needs another lubrication. A new-type oil filter lets you drive 4,000 miles between oil changes. Mufflers are aluminumized for more than double the life. Brakes are self-adjusting.

New zinc-coated body panels protect your car from rust two or three times as long. Spark plugs are self-cleaning, save gas. A special Super-Enamel finish never needs waxing.

LOOKS BETTER...AND IS! The styling and size are completely new. Trimmer, easier to garage, far more agile. You get a de luxe interior in every model at no extra cost.

FEELS LIKE MORE! Here's the first low-price car to provide a true "fine-car feel." Not just shock absorbers and springs for your riding comfort, but a unique new system of rubber cushioning called Cushion-Link suspension. It is exclusive on all Meteor 800's, Monterey's, and Mercury station wagons. No more bumps from tar strips and other road-surface irregularities.

Don't miss the first showing! See your Mercury dealer now. Here, without question, is the newest and smartest buy in the low-price field.

THE EASTER DINNER

BY DONALD DOWNES

Copyright © 1960 by Donald Downes. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Ciccio, a member of the Italian underground as the Americans approach Rome in 1944, is deeply concerned over obtaining food for an Easter dinner in honor of the engagement of his daughter, Rosalba. Meanwhile, he continues undertaking dangerous assignments under Paolo Macdougall, an American intelligence officer, and a number of Italian friends.

Chapter XV

Luchino sat in his study talking with Conte Rossini and Principe di Mont'Alto. All three of them were obviously worried, but Luchino's face was especially drawn and gray.

"I sent for you, Saverio, because you asked me to make use of you. We need you now."

"You can consider me a private in the rear ranks," Mont'Alto replied.

"I'll have to give you names and particulars that ordinarily it would be better if you did not know. The Germans have picked up three of our people in the last few days. One apparently tried to get away and was killed; so there is nothing we can do for him. We are fortunate in having two German officers—in fact, counter-intelligence officers—salted down as prisoners in the country not far from Rome. Using them, I intend to bargain with the Germans for the release of our two people whom they hold. One of these is Captain Franceschelli, whose father was old Professore Dino Franceschelli, a great friend of my fathers."

"I knew him, I contributed in a modest way to some excavating he did in an Etruscan site on a bit of my property up in the Sabina. Poor devil!"

"The other one is a radio operator named Contini. Was in the navy and lost an eye at Capo Matapan."

"What do you want me to do, son? I could see Knabe and make the offer of exchange."

"No, that would tip all our hands too much. There's an Irish Monsignore in the Vatican named O'Toole who's already brokered the exchange of prisoners for other organizations. My idea is that you approach him."

"I'll go right now if you want me to."

"I'd prefer you to wait until Lieutenant Mazzone arrives. I'd like his opinion. Our proposal is the following: They hand over two prisoners, unhurt, over to Monsignore O'Toole inside the Vatican, where, of course, they must stay till the Allies arrive in Rome. If we don't release their two prisoners within 48 hours, Monsignore O'Toole will guarantee the Germans to give Franceschelli and Contini back to them."

"Excuse me for interrupting," said Rossini, "but I think we should also inform them—the Germans—through Monsignore O'Toole that if they do not accept our offer we'll dispose of the two German officers in as unpleasant a way as they do themselves."

Luchino and Mont'Alto nodded their agreement.

For a moment or two the three of them sat in silence, a bell rang. It was Paolo, who was introduced to Mont'Alto as Manzoni, and the conversation about the exchange of prisoners went on.

"I must have the German officers' names," Mont'Alto said. "Or Monsignore O'Toole won't know what he's offering."

Luchino gave him the full name and rank of Wolff and Schenkel.

"I'll go to the Vatican right away and find this Irishman. Wolff and Schenkel for Franceschelli and Contini; that's the deal,

Ike Won't Head Any University

WASHINGTON (AP) — Universities looking for new presidents next year had better not count on Dwight D. Eisenhower, White House callers reported today.

The subject of another possible post at the head of a university after his term expires came up when the President met with prospective college students who have won Amvets scholarships.

Members of the group quoted him as saying that when he retires this time it will be just to rest. Eisenhower served as president of Columbia University between his last active military command and his first campaign for the presidency.

Talking with the students, who were accompanied by the Amvets national commander, Harold Russell, the President emphasized again his interest in political activity and voting by young people, his visitors said.

They quoted him as saying he thinks anyone old enough to fight is old enough to vote and as urging that young people study all sides of political questions and be active in public life at all government levels.

Eisenhower several times has suggested that the states lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

with our men unhurt and untortured—or else. Is that right?"

"That's it," replied Paolo, "but before you go, Principe, I want you to hear this: no gathering of us all any more; no meetings here at Luchino's—it's becoming too dangerous. I suggest meetings limited to two of us at cafes."

The others agreed, and they numbered three cafes one, two and three for safety in messages.

Ciccio's Tuesday was as discouraging as his Monday. All day he had wandered around Trastevere inquiring of friends and acquaintances, even total strangers, the same question: "Do you know where I can buy any real food? Never mind the price—I'm willing to be robbed!" It was hopeless.

Returning home he checked on the miserable hoard in the kitchen cabinet: Livio's olive oil and mysterious German tin of probable meat, and Maria's four eggs standing beside Peppino's bottle of bubbly wine. In his mind's eye he saw all the other necessities for the feast: somehow he must get them. His prestige, even his self-esteem was at stake, Maria's sobs, and Clementina's scolding whirled around in his memory.

"I never had so much money—and what good is it to me?"

Livio returned. He had two kilos of German flour and was proud of it.

"No meat?"

"No, Papa. There isn't any, even at the German commissary, except in cans, and there were so many guards."

"I'm hungry," whined one of the small children.

"You'll have to wait for your mamma—here she comes."

"Mamma, I'm hungry."

"So's everybody. Shut up! There will be food at eight. Go out and play."

Rosalba entered and a bitter quarrel ensued between her and Clementina.

To get away from the scolding and sobbing in which all the family took part, Ciccio rushed into his bedroom and slammed the door. Women, women, women! Are there any troubles that don't come from women?

Pontiac Has a Complete New Styling

Pontiac for 1961 has combined dynamic new styling concepts with significant engineering advances to present the most exciting new car in its 55-year history, said S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager, in announcing Pontiac's new line of automobiles.

Fifteen new eye-catching models in four versatile series are precision designed to set new standards in car beauty, reliability, performance, and molding comfort. Knudsen declared: "With this new line we intend to strengthen our position of leadership in the medium price field."

The new Pontiac is as much as 9 inch lower, four inches shorter, and 2.5 inches narrower, Knudsen revealed, yet important passenger compartment dimensions have been improved. Pontiac's famous wide track design, prevailing in each series, also proportionately increased.

Knudsen also cited a new perimeter frame, new front and rear suspension systems, and a lighter weight, more efficient V-8 engine among the car's completely new engineering features.

Pontiac's dynamic new styling approach for 1961 conveys an

NEW YORK (UPI) — The investor who does his tax selling early will, in all likelihood, create an opportunity to salvage the maximum advantage from an unfortunate situation, according to E. H. Hutton & Co.

By taking his tax loss ahead of the pack, he has a chance of realizing a price for a "worried" stock that will be above the lows for the year, Hutton advises.

There is also the possibility that many stocks with reasonably good intermediate prospects will be forced down to unrealistic levels in the crush to establish tax loss es.

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Right-wing parties are still the strongest political force in Finland after municipal elections, but the Communists are in second place.

The Communists picked up 50,000 votes for a total of more than 400,000.

Has Trouble With Indoor 'Forest'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest.

Perhaps where you live, you don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the trees grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way.

My daughter, Tracy, 7, is in the second grade now, and she keeps coming home from school with a

● in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask.

"My homework."

"What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it grow. I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it. Then I bring it back home and let it grow some more. Then I bring it to class again, and then I—"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further. I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow.

It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a swining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Ollie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or the fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Ollie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away. It seems cast kept indoors have a poor appetite for green and growing things.

I'm not sure how long this can go on, or whether it is fair for a man to let a cat cause his daughter to flunk nature study in the second grade.

I intercepted the following brooding letter from Tracy to herself: "A tree that loses its leaves in winter is deciduous. My maple tree will have bare branches."

There was also this further unexpected fruit of her horticultural learning. Susie, her little friend down the hall, observed during entering the low-price field this fall is the all-new, smaller Oldsmobile, the F-85. This smartly styled new six-passenger car is built on a wheelbase of 112 inches, with over-all length of 188.2 inches. The F-85 is offered as a four-door sedan or four-door station wagon, with deluxe versions of each (shown above). Sedans have a generous 12.1 cubic feet of usable luggage space, while cargo space in the station wagons is 73.5 cubic feet. The high performing, economical F-85 is powered by Oldsmobile's all-new aluminum Rockette V-8, a water-cooled engine mounted up front. Rated at 155 h.p., the 350-pound Rockette V-8 engine has one of the highest power-to-weight ratios in the industry and is engineered to perform efficiently on regular-grade gasoline. Luggage space shown above on the deluxe station wagon is optional at extra cost.

Good Health Is Not So Widespread

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A look at medicine finds good health not so widespread as it might be and ribs used to help repair deformed faces.

Sicker Than We Think

Americans apparently are not so healthy as generally thought. There are more minor illnesses and days of being below par than one of those aimless generalities so pleasing to children. "My daddy is fatter than your daddy."

"Yes, he is," Tracy agreed but added proudly: "My daddy is more deciduous than your daddy."

has been suspected.

This is indicated, at least, by 10 scientists who kept careful records upon themselves for nine months, beginning in the fall.

On average, they were free of some symptoms of minor illness only 45 per cent of all that time. The 10 suffered 45 bouts of upper respiratory ailments.

But they averaged only 1 1/2 days absence from their jobs. This suggests absenteeism records don't accurately reflect the extent of minor illnesses, at least among persons who like their work, says the report in the American Review of Respiratory Diseases.

It Just Was Not the Night for Bob Hope

By FRED DANIELZ
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—It wasn't Bob Hope's night.

Usually, the best part of a Bob Hope hour is the opening monologue, when he strolls in front of the curtain and unspools some tropical gags.

Monday night, for Hope's first NBC-TV special of the season, "technical difficulties" washed out almost all of the monologue. Too bad. The sure we lost out on the best part of the show.

Once the wires became disentangled and full audio was restored, nothing that I heard on the show was worthwhile. It was a dullie.

There were two alleged comedy sketches. The first involved Hope and Patti Page in a rocket ship trip that was misguided. The sketch appeared to have been built around two sight gags and they fell flat. The big comedy effort was set in an Oriental tea house, where Hope, an Oriental tycoon, and Bobby Darin, as an American artist, competed for the hand of Patti Page, a ten house entertainer. Miss Page and Darin seemed to think it was funny because they kept trying to hold in laughter. From where I sat, the sketch was anemic.

Darin also performed his latest record, a tune called "Artificial Flowers." He spoiled it by talking it too seriously.

Joan Crawford came on to introduce the newest crop of Hollywood deb stars, the 10 young ladies who are presented along with the new Buicks at this time of year. (I think one of the girls was named Slicki Wicki.) The segment let Hope unleash some peppy gags, enabling his hour to end on a better note than its beginning.

Watch out for "The Andy Griffith Show." It's faltering, loaded with the carbohydrates of standard filmed comedy. The ingredients include Griffith as a determinedly charming small-town facetious who is a wonderful father to little Opie, an All American boy played by an appealing youngster named Ronny Howard. And there's kindly old Aunt Bee, played by Frances Bavier. She can bake an apple pie like mad, but she's nowhere as a baseball player and fishing companion.

The boy has a canary and Griffith has a silly aide, played by Don Knotts. The premiere episode had to do with getting Opie to accept Aunt Bee after Rose, the housekeeper, went and got married. It was all designed to win FLOATING TEE—A paddle would be more appropriate than a club as Mrs. Ken Dowdy splashes away a ball on the flooded Sunset Golf and Country Club course in St. Petersburg, Fla. Accompanied by Billy Watts, the club manager under the umbrella Mrs. Dowdy donned hip waders to play the layout inundated by a two-day rainstorm.

Monday, a southwesterly move was made to increase the number of Negro voters.

The conference said the move would be made in Clarksdale and Jackson, Miss. Approximately 60 Negroes crowded the Clarksdale County office yesterday and 15 were registered. The Jackson office reported no unusual number of Negroes attempting to register.

Shull, who doubles as voter registrar, said only one Negro woman came to the office today. She passed the test, he said, and he registered her.

"I think it's all over with," he said. "It seems they wanted to make a one day's show."

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta, Ga., cluckless, bring tears to the eyes and lumps to the throat. The design was so obvious, so commercial that I resisted it.

The CBS-TV premiere offered nothing new and everything old. Griffith's styles is straight out of Tennessee. "Ernie Ford," although his grin is out of the Bert Parks acting school. The dialogue is mostly out of "Jassie."

New Version of GOP Truth Group

NEW YORK (AP)—A new version of the Republicans' "truth squad" has been announced by the Democrats. They call it "the lie detector squad."

Four attorneys will trail Vice President Richard M. Nixon when he campaigns around New York Wednesday. "To see that he sticks to the truth," the Democrats said.

Anthony Akers, executive chairman of New York Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson, said the "new Nixon" is rapidly descending to the level of the "old Nixon" and "for this reason we must be doubly alert to his use of the lie, the half truth and the use of innuendo."

Oldsmobile Advances in Engineering

DANING. The 1961 Oldsmobile Dynamic has a Super 80 and 100 in eight different models, incorporated the greatest changes in styling and design to be introduced by the division in many years. It was announced today by Jack P. Wolcott, vice president of General Motors and general manager of Oldsmobile, the new line of cars will be introduced to the public at Oldsmobile dealer showrooms across the nation on October 6.

In addition to their completely new, fresh and distinctive look, many design changes for passenger comfort have been made to make the 80's and 100's more comfortable than ever before. Val front said, "Head room is increased, the cars are much easier to get in and out of, and seating comfort is greatly improved."

This, together with many mechanical advancements, makes the 80's and 100's the most comfortable, performing, most comfortable, and smoothest riding and handling cars in the division's history," he declared.

Oldsmobile's market has been widened — we are no longer priced in by price class. Val front said. "Our new Dynamic 80's, Super 80's and 100's will please the many, many people who need, want, and are accustomed to the beauty, comfort, utility and prestige of a full-size Oldsmobile."

Murphy Sales Up 21 Per Cent

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Consolidated sales of the Murphy Corp. for the quarter ending Aug. 31 totaled $15,374,000, an increase of 21 per cent over sales for the same period last year, stockholders were told today.

Officials told the annual stockholders' meeting here that net earnings for the period were $775,000, an increase of $21,000 over 1959.

However, a dividend payment of 33 cents per share, the same as last year, was recommended, because of a greater number of stockholders this year, officials said.

Bruce K. Brown of New Orleans and Myron R. Holmgren of Evanston, Ill., were elected to the board of directors.

C. H. Murphy Jr., company president, said the quarter ending Aug. 31 was the second best quarter in Murphy history, except for quarters in which year-end adjustments are figured.

New Chrysler Newport Features Dollar-Saving Engine

For 1961 Chrysler introduces a Newport series to go with its Windsor and New Yorker models. The Newport, shown here in a two-door hardtop, is powered by a 265-horsepower engine which operates on regular-grade fuel, thus giving more miles per dollar. A full-size car with a 122-inch wheelbase, the Newport will compete in a lower price range than previous Chryslers, according to factory officials.

Khrushchev Does Same as Stalin

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years ago Nikita Khrushchev—by denouncing Stalin—tried to demolish the terroristic image of Russia which the old man had created through such moves as the Berlin blockade and the Korean War.

Ever since, a bit at a time as failures pile up against him, Khrushchev had been creating the same image in a different form. While Stalin used force, Khrushchev is threatening to use it.

While Khrushchev's goals are the same as Stalin's—the expansion of communism and its influence—Stalin had done two things detrimental to both:

1. He had frightened the West into creating the one thing he wanted least—a military alliance in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
2. He had made Russia such a terror symbol that the rest of the world could expect only naked Russian force at every turn.

Khrushchev had good reason for trying to wipe out this picture of Stalinist Russia. Times had changed.

Since both Russia and the United States were developing long-range nuclear weapons outright Russian military conquest had to be laid aside as too risky.

A new tactic was needed. Khrushchev tried soft talk. If it worked it might persuade the West NATO was no longer needed. Meanwhile, Russia could seek expansion through various pressures short of shooting.

Khrushchev's abandonment of Stalin's crude tactics was never complete and never real. In 1956, the year he downgraded Stalin, he sent Russian troops into satellite Hungary to crush the rebellion bloodily.

But Khrushchev went on with his air of jolly goodfellowship. He wanted a summit meeting, part of an obvious desire to make NATO seem unnecessary and talk the West into a feeling of security.

To get the West to agree to a summit conference Khrushchev, like Stalin, put the squeeze on Berlin. But Khrushchev did it a little differently.

Stalin tried to grab it outright with a blockade in 1948 before there were any intercontinental ballistic missiles. Khrushchev merely threatened to shut off the city.

He kept up the pressure of threats until President Eisenhower agreed to the meeting. As time passed, and the Berlin crisis did too, the West began to feel more self-confident.

Secretary of State Chaitin A. Harker and other Western Statesmen began making it clear Khrushchev would get no concessions at the summit.

The subsequent shooting down over Russia of the American U2 spy plane—just before the summit—gave Khrushchev a handy excuse for wrecking what, for his purposes, was already wrecked.

From that moment Khrushchev's tactics have reverted, more and more toward those of Stalin, although with a difference. Where Stalin created terror by force, Khrushchev has sought to create terror by intimidation.

He has boasted of his missile strength, threatened to use it. He began putting the squeeze on Berlin again just before coming to the United Nations in September, looking for concessions.

With the world anxious for disarmament and fearful of war, he threatened there'd be no disarmament unless the United Nations yielded to his demands to change the world organization in such a way that it would be helpless to stop any future Russian moves against anyone anywhere.

Seeing he was making no progress, he got more barefaced. He frankly said unless the United Nations would ignore any U.N. peace-making effort in the future.

So far he has been hit with one failure after another in trying to

Early Data Shows Profits Down a Bit

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Early reports show profits for the summer quarter running seven per cent behind year ago figures. But the total holds fairly close to that in the second quarter, and the number of companies running ahead of last year is about the same as those falling behind.

The director of the U.S. Budget still thinks that total corporate earnings for 1960 will equal record-breaking 1959 but not surpass it, as was rosy predicted at the start of the year.

Prospects for the just-started fourth quarter are for at least an even break with the final three months of last year. The gloomy note in that prediction is that last year saw three-quarter profits clipped by the steel and allied industries by metal workers' strikes and profits of other industries hurt in the fourth quarter by strike-caused shortages.

So just an even break this year isn't too comforting.

A bright spot in current earnings reports is furnished by the banks. The majority show earnings as good or at least even with last year's summer quarter and ahead for the first nine months as a whole by anywhere from 5 to 27 per cent.

Higher interest rates than last year helped the banks in the first part of this year. But the last three months show the results of a drop in total demand for loans, plus the cut Aug. 22 to 4½ from 5 per cent in the basic interest charge for business loans.

Cash dividends also have stayed ahead of last year despite the noticeable squeeze on profits.

For the first eight months of this year the total is $7.8 billion, six per cent better than the previous year. The trend may last through the final three months of the year since many corporations hold dividend rates in spite of profit slips.

The current profit squeeze worries not only management and stockholders but also the U. S. Treasury.

It had counted on corporate income taxes bringing in $23.5 billion when the budget was drawn in January. But now the budget director says $21.5 billion is a likelier figure, with higher spending cutting any Treasury surplus by even more than that drop indicates.

Aid for Flooded Areas

LIMOGES, France (AP) —

Emergency rescue plans were put into operation in flooded areas of south central France today. At least three deaths were reported.

Municipal authorities in Brive and Tulle sent urgent calls for aid from neighboring towns and the army. Drinking water, electricity and gas were cut off in both towns. Landslides occurred at several points blocking the already flooded highways.

Some Believe Nikita Taking Orders Now

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's extended stay in the United States and his performances at the U.N. arouse speculation again that he is taking orders, rather than giving them.

This speculation developed last May in Paris, inspired by sudden flips in policies Khrushchev had appeared to be pursuing.

Much was printed about the possibility that powerful Soviet military figures might be wielding a balance of power in Moscow. The thought was that these military men had been won over by hard-line Stalinists who now were calling the shots.

Khrushchev's activities during the U.N. General Assembly session have been curious. One gets the impression he is a man carrying out specific orders and that he even might, from time to time, be taken to task for the way he is doing the job.

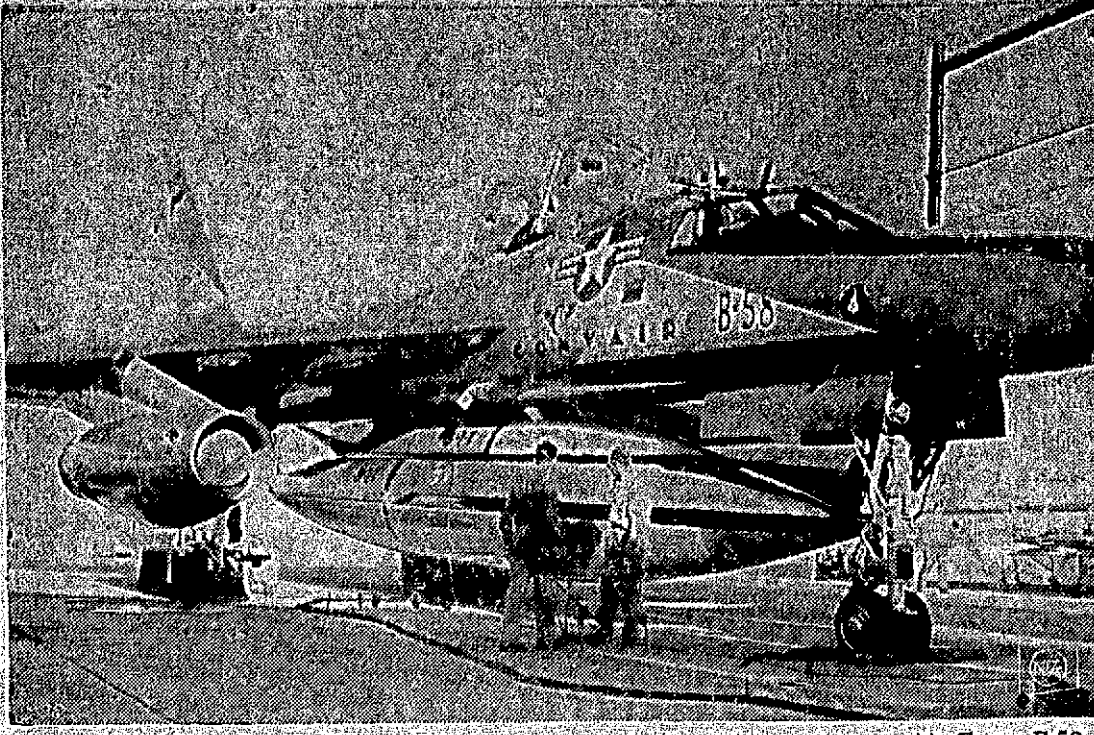

To understand the reasoning behind the speculation concerning Khrushchev's current situation, it is necessary to take a look backward.

The crest of his power and authority had been driving hard along lines of a program for what he called "peaceful coexistence." The Soviet Union would avoid the risk of total war while mounting political and economic offensives to break down resistance to Soviet concepts of how peace should be imposed.

That would take time, and there were impatient men in the world Communist movement. Meanwhile some attractive prospects for militant, aggressive communist action were emerging in the Middle East, in Africa, in Cuba.

In 1958, Khrushchev imposed a go-slow policy in the Middle East, at the expense of a strong Communist party in Iraq which all had that oil-rich nation in its grasp.

It is likely this and other cautious Khrushchev actions, inhibiting Communists from dangerous activity, raised some resentment in the world movement. It is fairly clear, too, that the Communists

TWO-PART POD—Crew inspects the new two-part droppable pod on an Air Force B-58 Hustler. Convair is building the pod in Fort Worth, Tex. The fuel-carrying lower portion can be dropped when it's emptied. In combat the Mach 2 bomber would carry only the upper portion of the pod. It would contain a nuclear bomb.

Aid to Hiroshima

TOKYO (AP) — The United States today presented a check for 216 million yen—$600,000—to the Japanese government for construction of medical buildings in Nagasaki and Hiroshima, targets of American atomic bombs in World War II. The buildings will be used for research, treatment and training in atomic medicine.

Chinese have been resentful. They have big plans for their role in Africa and the Middle East. They are far less impressed than Khrushchev with the horrors of nuclear war.

In New York, Khrushchev has acted like a man assigned a specific job. One day he roars. The next he conducts himself with relative dignity. Always his thunderous pronouncements and startling interruptions leave the idea that they seem well thought out, in advance.

Could it be that Khrushchev is an instrument, perhaps of a tight collective in Moscow?

Is Khrushchev just being tolerated in the title roles of party chief and government leader, so long as he continues to display striking talents as a salesman for communism?

Lowly Coyote Is Dining in Hollywood

AP MOVIE-TV WRITER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lo the lowly coyote, howling in the hills a buckshot blast from Hollywood and Vine.

Howls are also coming from residents of the brush-covered slopes above Hollywood, who claim the predators are snacking on household pets. Reported casualties: eight cats, an undischarged number of ducks and guinea pigs.

One woman said she had to flush a coyote from her patio; other residents complained of the animals' strolling across their lawns. A dozen women on Tiger Trail Road staged a protest meeting and petitioned City Council for help.

Joining the anticoyote forces was Dick Powell, who said that the varmints practically drove him from his Mandeville Canyon ranch to the settled confines of Beverly Hills.

"There were millions of them up where we lived," he complained. "They killed several of our sheep and some calves. We could hardly sleep at night. They'd get together and cackle like a convention of women."

"They make nice music," corrected Lauritz Melchior, who occupies an acre atop Mulholland Drive. "I have done a great deal of hunting in my life, and I love the sounds of the jungle."

The influx of coyotes around peopled areas has resulted from the depredations of their normal hunting grounds by brush fires and subdividers. The area stretches from the heart of Hollywood to the sea. What can be done?

One of the handful of trappers licensed by the state says not much is possible. The trapper, who declined to be identified, said the coyotes could only be poisoned by cyanide, which might claim more pets and children than coyotes.

The other method would be iron traps, also risky in populated areas. "I wouldn't be interested in the job," he said. "It's too big—there's thousands of 'em up there. And there's no money in it. Northern coyote pelts can be sold—you'd be surprised how many fancy fur coats are dyed coyote. But Southern California coyotes are too mangy."

Visitor Is Disturbing College Gals

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Going to school across the street from Soviet Premier Khrushchev is the thing at times—but it's also an education.

So say the girls at Hunter College.

They've had their own cold war blockade to run for more than a week now, with the Communist leader holding forth intermittently at the Soviet U.N. mission headquarters directly across Park Avenue from the campus.

The situation has produced classroom interruptions, arguments and annoyances, but also some laughs and learning.

"Most of the students have taken it rather lightly," said Barbara Galgano, 19, Manhattan managing editor of the college newspaper, the Hunter Arrow.

Whenever Khrushchev has appeared on the street, or disgorged from the balcony of the Soviet building, students have abandoned their desks and swarmed to the windows to watch.

"It's as if it were a sideshow," Miss Galgano said.

Once, as Khrushchev sparred with reporters from his balcony, a group of Hunter girls began singing "God Bless America" from a classroom window.

He responded with a few lines of the Internationale, "Arise, ye prisoners of starvation."

Another time, some girls in a third-floor lounge let out a few boos. He glanced up, squinting, then grinned and made a thumbs-down gesture.

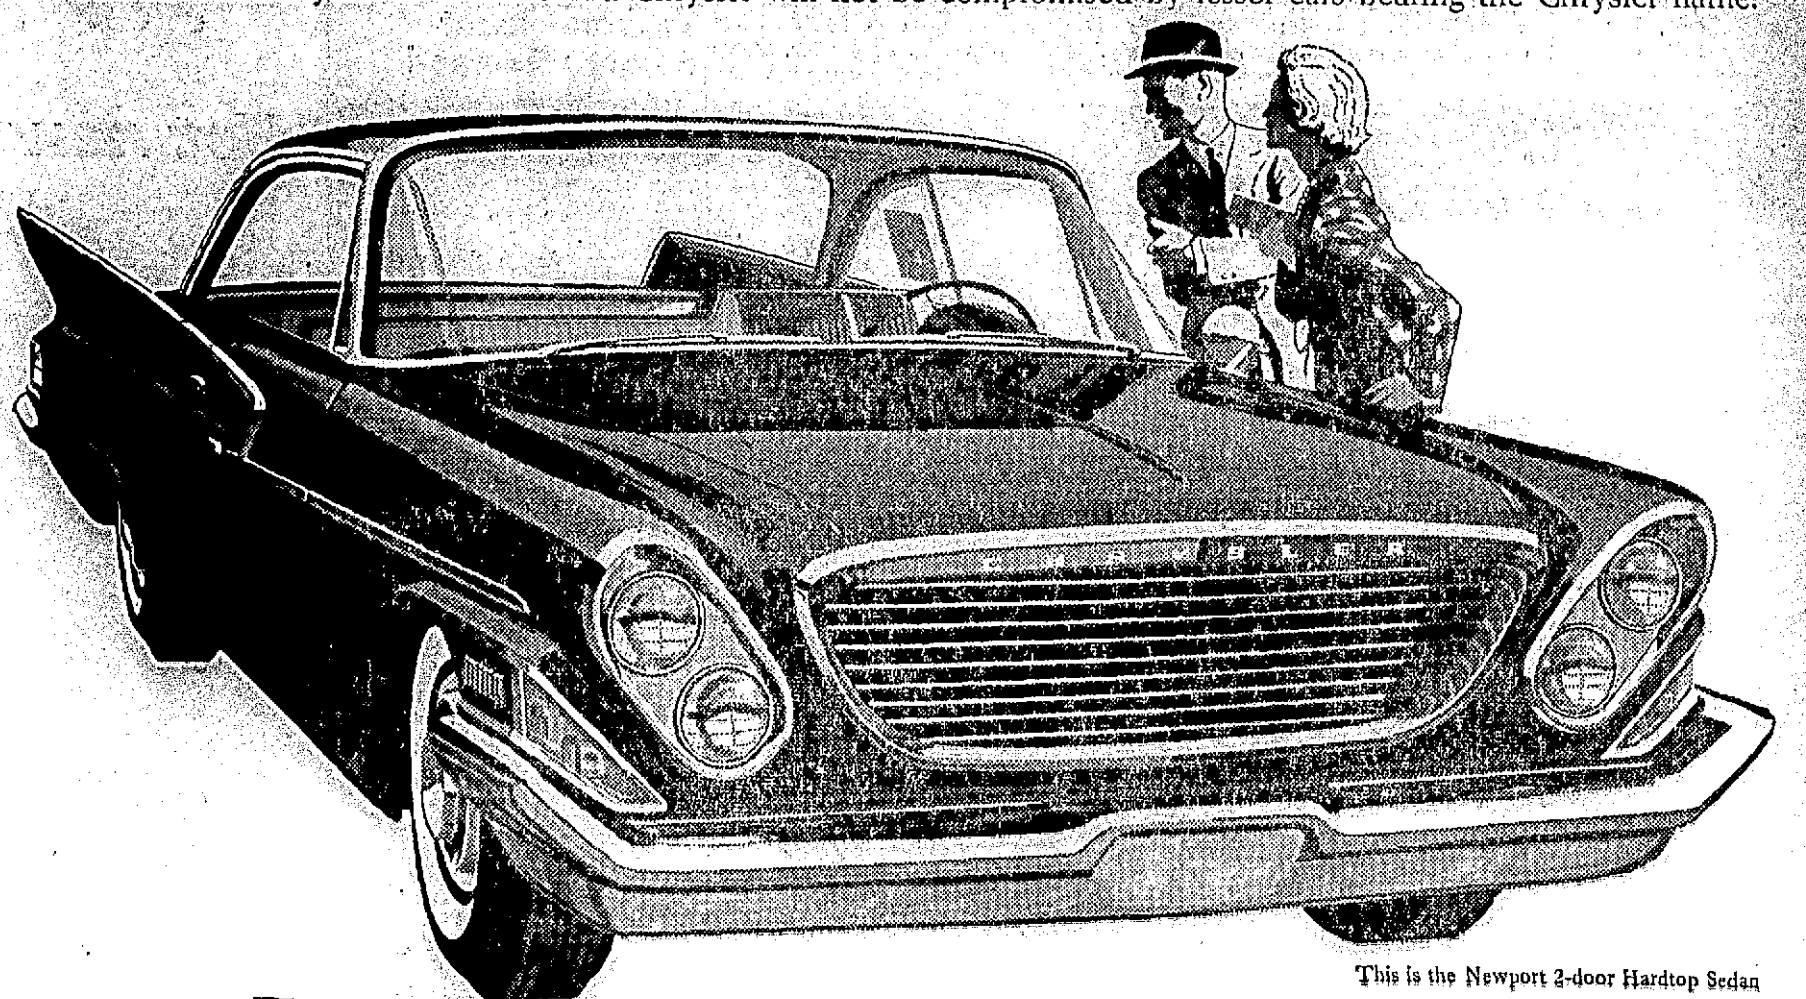

"Generally, most of the girls have regarded it all as a circus," said Linda Lax, 20, a Bronx junior. "There have been no general displays of animosity. It's been mostly just curiosity."

A number of Hunter girls are East European refugees, and favor light restrictions against Khrushchev's activity.

Some Hunter girls have joined in picketing Hungarian headquarters here, following a speech on the campus by a refugee who said the Janos Kadar regime held many Hungarian girl students in prison.
